PUBLICATION DATES: June 15, 2017

GET INVOLVED BY: May 25, 2017

MATERIAL DUE: June 1, 2017

Although automated investing services are still in their infancy, their popularity is growing quickly. Many financial institutions see their commercial value and are getting on board early. To help Canadians understand this new investment service more thoroughly, The Globe and Mail will publish Automated Investing on June 15th. Canadian financial institutions that advertise in this series will benefit from being seen as early providers amongst The Globe's readership of savvy investors with substantial investment portfolios. Automated investing is quite possibly the most revolutionary investment innovation since discount brokerages and ETFs. Let Globe and Mail readers know how your organization is on board with this important trend.
