

NOVEMBER 2018 HOLIDAY ISSUE

The Globe and Mail Style Advisor's annual holiday edition compiles luxury gift ideas, party-perfect fashion, winter getaway guides and delicious entertaining tips into one inspiring package.

What's new and noteworthy for the season including holiday fragrances for you and your home, the style story behind the new Christmas Star for the Rockefeller Center tree, a getaway to Hamburg during its festive market season and a distillery discovery in B.C.

ESSENTIALS

Essentials

Deck your feet for party season with statement shoes, from ornate flats to over-the-top pumps.

Fashion/Grooming

Humble hoods and tuques get gussied up for winter. Plus, a Dior exhibition brings its archive to North America for the first time, and we source perfect presents for beauty buffs.

Design/Travel

Escaping the holiday frenzy at a new Nordic spa in Alberta, a guide to exploring Athens in the off-season and a collection of luxe cannabis culture accessories for the home.

Food & Drink

A look at how Instagram has made intricately iced cakes the It-dessert for Christmas get-togethers. Also, Casamigos launches its new Mezcal in Muskoka and what to gift the cocktail lover on your list.

FEATURES

Fashion: A fantasy world of fine jewellery highlights the best dream baubles to covet, plus a look inside how a haute joaillerie collection comes together in Paris.

Design: A group of Canadian illustrators create original gift-wrapping that readers can pull out of the magazine and use to elevate their own presents.

Food & Drink: From bowls of gourmet nuts to the perfect devilled egg, we put together a menu of elevated bar snacks well suited to December entertaining.
