In 2019, the aerospace industry contributed more than $28-billion to Canada's GDP and supported 234,500 jobs. Yet along with the airlines it so heavily depends on, aerospace has been one of the sectors experiencing a significant downturn due to the coronavirus pandemic. This special feature explores the outlook for the future for the Canadian aerospace sector and its key partners.

Proposed topic highlights:

GLOBAL TRENDS – What the downturn means for the aerospace industry and its supply chains.

INNOVATION & SPACE – A look at new opportunities, such as carbon-neutral flight and space exploration.

COLLABORATION – Leveraging partnerships for moving the sector forward.

OUTLOOK – Can aerospace build on its strength for boosting economic recovery?
