Canada has 347 million hectares of forest land, which make up 9 per cent of the world's forest cover, 28 per cent of the world's boreal zone and 40 per cent of the world's forests certified as being sustainably managed. This special feature looks at forests in Canada and what they mean to Canadians as well as conservation and sustainable management efforts.

Proposed topics:

ADVOCACY – Evidence-based advocacy for conservation and sustainable forestry practices.

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT – Exploring the value of forests in partnership with Indigenous communities and other stakeholders.

INNOVATION – Emerging technologies and business processes for generating social, economic and environmental benefits.

CONSERVATION – Preserving forests – and especially environmentally sensitive and old growth – habitat.
